HOW TO DELIVER EFFECTIVE LESSONS... EVEN UNDER IMMENSE PRESSURE.

BRIEF COURSE OUTLINE

Teachers are experiencing mounting pressure to meet the increasing standards and expectations of students, parents and schools. Effective lessons are measured in meeting objectives, results and how energised students are by their learning. Sometimes, you have an off day as a teacher. With increasing pressure and expectation, mental wellbeing has a huge impact on teachers' delivery. Learn how to deliver effective lessons even when you are not at your best.

WHO SHOULD ATTEND

This course is suitable for all teachers, trainees, NQT's, new and experienced teachers, heads of departments and heads of faculties.

PROGRAMME DETAILS

- Adapt your habits and thinking patterns to provide the flexibility in unlocking the teaching and learning opportunities. Learn how to use your unique experiences to anchor your lessons in authenticity and develop your own 'natural' structure and boundaries that all students respect.
- Assess where your strengths as a teacher lie and use established methods and pedagogical practices to the advantage of you and your students. Acquire the additional skills to generate a learning environment that promotes safety and inclusion whilst enhancing student learning and enjoyment. Create safe environments of feedback that challenges everybody!
- Learn how to effectively turn generic lesson plans into real effective lessons that meet learning outcomes and engage even the most disengaged students and promote positive classroom behaviour. Add creativity to your activities that improve every student and maximise how to flip your lesson's effectively!

METHOD OF DELIVERY

Self-assessment; Group and Individual activity; exposure to challenge; discussion and target setting; presentation, lesson planning activities,

COURSE FACILITATOR

Martyn Stewart (CPsychol) is a widely experienced consultant and educator with a strong background in coaching and mentoring, social inclusion, mental well-being and cognitive restructuring. He is also a chartered psychologist with the British Psychological Society. Martyn is currently the Head of Psychology at one of the top international British schools in the world and an acclaimed motivational speaker.

TESTIMONIALS

See interactive references on www.passareuk.com